REPORT OF THE BOARD

To the Commissioner of Education:

In accordance with the provisions of Section 14 of Chapter 78 of the General Laws, the Board of Free Public Library Commissioners herewith presents its fiftieth annual report, covering the work of the Division of Public Libraries for the year ending November 30, 1939.

On June 30, 1939, His Excellency, Governor Leverett Saltonstall appointed Mr. Stacy B. Southworth a member of the Board of Library Commissioners to fill out the term of Mr. Dooley, resigned, and designated him as Chairman. This appointment was confirmed by the Council July 12.

The general cut in all department budgets brought a cut of over $3000 from the Division's very meagre $10,000 for expenses. When the budget came up for consideration in the Senate the entire appropriation was cut out of the budget for the biennial period. This action of the Senate came as a great shock to the Division and to the librarians of the state. Senators and Representatives were contacted by the librarians to acquaint them with what the loss of this service would mean to them. As a result the appropriation was restored at the next meeting of the Senate. The appreciation of the work of the Division thus shown by the librarians of the state was a source of great satisfaction to the Division. With a greatly reduced budget, however, much of the service formerly rendered must be curtailed.

Enlarged office quarters are relieving the former crowded conditions.

THE STATE-WIDE LIBRARY PROJECT

The plan under consideration by the Board for state-wide regional library service as indicated in last year's report has taken concrete form through a Federal grant.

In December 1938, in consultation with Mr. Edward Chapman, WPA Library Consultant in Washington, a state-wide project was formulated under the sponsorship of the Board of Library Commissioners, with Miss Jones as the sponsor's representative. In May this project was approved in Washington and by the Governor in June. A Federal grant of $1,673,410 was allowed for library service throughout the state.

Since the early days of work relief, library projects have been set up locally with no unified plan. Under this project all existing public library projects, except those operating in the Boston Public Library, are reassigned to the state-wide project and all new projects are set up under this project. By this plan the local projects are approved without going to Washington, thus simplifying the necessary procedure. At present 66 local projects have been approved, and 32 are operating, employing a total of 167 WPA workers. The project calls for projects in every library which, if operating to full capacity, would provide work for over 1,000 white collar workers. Help has been given to the librarians in 15 small towns in outlining their needs and in formulating new projects. Frequent supervision is being given when needed in carrying on the project.

The chief object of the project from the WPA point of view is to provide employment for the white collar needy and to create worth while projects which will benefit the public libraries in the Commonwealth. This is, however, an opportunity for the Division to realize a plan for extension of its service which has not been possible heretofore because of its restricted budget. Included in the state-wide project is a plan to give extension service through regional centers,—a plan outlined and considered by the Board several years ago but funds were not available to carry it out. For this service the project calls for a State Technical Supervisor with a trained staff, including two librarians at headquarters and regional supervisors at the centers. The Board was fortunate in obtaining the services of Miss Catharine M. Yerxa, former field worker for the Division, as Technical Supervisor. Since she had outlined the plan for regional service some years ago her experience and knowledge of library conditions in the state are invaluable in setting up and carrying on this regional service.

The need of a larger unit than the local library in Massachusetts is plainly seen when one considers that there are 228 towns under 5,000 population, 60 of which are between 1,000 and 2,000, 80 under 1,000, and 44 under 500. 62% of these are in western Massachusetts. Although there is library service for every town in the state inadequate incomes result in static book collections, untrained librarians, libraries open so little that their use is restricted and the outlying sections of communities are without resources.

By dividing the libraries into districts with a large library as a center greater opportunities will be given to the small libraries to give more effective service. The centers will serve as a distributing unit for books provided through a $30,000 allotment from the Federal fund. A large selection will be deposited at each center supplemented by the Division's lending library. These books are selected and cataloged at the Division headquarters at the State House, with a trained cataloger and assistant cataloger in charge of a corps of WPA workers who are doing mechanical work of typing cards for the catalog and preparing the books for circulation. Books in need of repair in the small libraries will be sent to the regional centers where WPA workers will mend them. As the need arises cataloging for the small libraries in the region will be done at the centers in order to enable the librarians to revise their catalogs and keep them up-to-date.

Each center will be in charge of a professionally trained and experienced librarian, who will have immediate supervision of the regional program, with the State Supervisor coordinating the work in the various regions. The Supervisor will work in all cases with the local library to assist it in developing its services. The needs of each community will be studied and the librarian assisted in administrative problems. Through the distribution of books from the centers it is hoped to stimulate reading through personal contacts and readers' guidance service.

It was hoped that bookmobiles would be provided in the project but this was not allowed so it was necessary to look elsewhere for such benefactions. The Board is most grateful for the immediate response to the suggestion made to the Massachusetts Library Association which has generously purchased a bookmobile for the distribution of the books. This is a loan from the Association, which provides for the registration, insurance and tax. The expense of maintaining and operating the bookmobile will be provided from state funds. It is hoped that other educationally minded groups will be moved to support the regional plans by also supplying bookmobiles.

Libraries serving as regional centers will provide quarters, including light, heat and janitor service, for WPA workers and storage space for books to be distributed from these centers. Local librarians furnish supervision over relief people assigned to their libraries. The Division as the sponsor of the project supplies office space and equipment for the central agency, and at the centers books from the lending library, equipment and materials. It also gives part-time of its Library Adviser and her Secretary.

Pittsfield was selected for the first regional center because of the great need of such service in the rural neighboring towns. The trustees of the Berkshire Athenaeum and the librarian cooperated in setting up the project, which is about to function. Librarians and trustees have been contacted as to their needs and all are eager for the assistance which will be given to them. The first bookmobile will operate here.

Greenfield will be the second center since many of our small libraries are located in its vicinity. The trustees have voted to give the required space and the project is being formulated.

Fall River, surrounded by a group of small towns is in great need of such service. The cooperation of the trustees was readily given and the center will soon be in operation.

The Goals

To make the book collection of rural libraries more useful and interesting:

- a. By supplying and distributing new books and books for special needs.
- b. By exchanging at frequent intervals books lent to the communities.

To supply necessary books to the rural and consolidated schools.

To assist local libraries in reaching outlying sections.

To give direct help in local libraries in serving the public, in cataloging, and in general administration.

To connect libraries with other social agencies such as state and county extension workers, schools, and organizations such as Women's Clubs, the Grange, the Parent-Teacher Association, Scouts, etc.

To demonstrate that the cooperative use of resources from a regional unit permits a larger library service than is possible from the local resources of a small unit such as a town.

FIELD WORK

Public Libraries. One hundred and eighty-one visits have been made to 139 public and two school libraries. Many of these visits were made to ascertain definite needs for the service which it was hoped would be forthcoming if the state-wide federal project was approved. In many cases the schools were visited to acquaint the teachers with the privilege they would receive if the money for books should be approved. Help was given to 15 libraries in setting up local projects, and to 3 libraries supervision after the project started. Inspection of books with recommendations for disposal of books of no permanent value was made to 12 libraries; advice in cataloging to 14 libraries, and definite help in revising the catalog and re-arranging the library to 4 libraries; advice on new buildings to two towns where buildings were being constructed. The Library Adviser has given 8 addresses, including the State Parent-Teacher Association meeting, the class in rural psychology at Simmons College, local parent-teacher association meetings and local library clubs; 19 library meetings have been attended.

Schools and Institutions. The State Certificate Reading list continues to be popular. A supplement was printed this year. The total number of certificates sent to the 135 towns requesting the material was 32,604, of which 25,815 were five-book certificates and 6,789 honor certificates. Books were lent to 17 institutions, 6 State Teachers Colleges, and 9 schools.

Library Institute. The regular library institute was omitted this year as the Board accepted the invitation of the University of New Hampshire to send librarians to the two weeks' summer course to be given at Durham. The Division's institutes are arranged for the librarians of the smallest towns while the course in New Hampshire was built around the needs of librarians in somewhat larger towns. Therefore, the program reached a different group of librarians and those who were in need of an intensive course. The tuition fee of $12 was offered as a scholarship to twenty-two Massachusetts librarians. Enthusiastic reports have been received from the librarians attending this summer school.

University Extension Courses. In cooperation with the Division of University Extension a reference course for librarians was planned with Miss Helen D. Hutchinson, Reference Librarian, Fitchburg Public Library, as instructor. This course started November 16 at Sever Hall, Harvard University, with sixteen lectures. The enrollment was forty-one, of which twenty-five are taking the course for credit.

A course in children's literature started November 9 at Sever Hall, Harvard University, with Miss Lucile Gulliver, Director, Lucile Gulliver Literary Bureau, as instructor. The enrollment was fifteen with eight taking the course for credit.

WPA Mending Project. The bookmending project which has been in operation since ERA days has continued at the State House. The number of workers has varied from fifteen to twenty. The number of books repaired, including 1,005 volumes of the Division's collection, was 5,206 volumes. Thus twenty-six small libraries have benefited from this project, the only cost to them being transportation of the books to the State House.

LENDING LIBRARY

The total number of books issued this year was 25,606 volumes, an increase of 1,084 volumes over last year. These were lent to 349 libraries, including 17 institutions, 6 State Teachers Colleges, and 9 schools.

From the general collection 14,214 volumes were lent, an increase of 819 over last year. This increase was less than that of last year owing to the cut in the budget which reduced the purchase of books to 310 volumes, a decrease of 577 volumes over last year's purchases. To fill requests 1,327 volumes were borrowed from other libraries, an increase of 175 volumes. For a three month period 137 collections were sent to 86 libraries, including one institution and two Teachers Colleges; a decrease of 20 collections and 7 libraries to which collections were sent. From the Division's certificate lending collection 83 collections were lent to 42 libraries and to 10 rural schools. This is an increase of 18 collections and 27 libraries, with a small decrease in the number of schools to which collections have been sent. A list of 1938 accessions was printed entitled, "Books for You."

The lending collection for the foreign-born circulated 11,392 volumes in 25 languages, lent to 148 libraries, including 9 institutions. This is an increase of 265 volumes over last year.

Books in the Polish language were the most popular, 57 libraries borrowing books in this language; Italian followed closely, and French was next in popularity. German, Greek, Lithuanian, Portuguese, Armenian, Finnish, Yiddish, Swedish, have had a good circulation.

To the following libraries the Board extends its appreciation of the courtesy so freely given to meet the requests in lending to the Division books it has been unable to buy to meet requests from the small libraries: the public libraries of Boston, Brockton, Brookline, Cambridge, Newton, Somerville, Watertown, Wellesley, and the Boston Medical, the Congregational Library, the Massachusetts Horticultural Society, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, the Massachusetts State Library and various other state departments. The Boston Public Library leads in lending 390 volumes, the Newton Public Library follows closely with 385; the State Library lent 320, and Brookline 136.

Summary of Library Service from the Division:

141 libraries—139 public and 2 school were visited.

25,606 volumes from the Division's lending collection were lent to 349 libraries, including 17 institutions, 6 State Teachers Colleges and 9 schools; 137 non-fiction collections to 86 libraries; 83 collections from the State Certificate collection were sent to 42 libraries and 10 rural schools.

15 libraries in the small towns were given children's books.

8 addresses were made by the Library Adviser before library clubs, parent-teacher associations, etc.

19 library meetings were attended.

Column A, B, C, in the Appendix show the service given to the towns through advisory visits, gifts, loans of books and other field work.

PUBLIC LIBRARIES IN 1939

Gifts. Library gifts and bequests reported total $147,985.99. There were six bequests of $5,000 or more. Adams received a $20,000 bequest from Mr. William T. Adams; Edgartown $7,200 from estate of Mrs. Edward Davis Thayer; Ipswich by will of Miss Elizabeth R. Lathrop of Salem $50,000 for an addition to the library in the form of a fireproof wing for children to be known as the "Rogers Room", and $3,000 in trust for new books for the proposed wing; Lenox $10,000 by will of Harris Fahnestock; North Adams $10,000 by will of Mrs. William A. Gallup for a memorial to her father Albert C. Houghton, the donor of the building; Westborough from Francis White Forbes $15,000, the income to be used for the upkeep of the library.

Buildings. The Eagleston addition to the Hyannis library has been completed. The $8,000 left by Edward L. Eagleston in 1913 has accumulated to $19,000. The Newtonville Branch library has been completed at a cost of $60,500 appropriated by the city, plus $49,500 from PWA funds; the East Cambridge Branch at a cost of $50,000 from PWA funds; the addition to the Thomas Crane Library, Quincy, costing $200,000, and the Somerset addition, a $15,000 gift from the Borden estate. The West Newbury library, costing $12,845 was dedicated in May. The Rutland library has moved into a new community building; the Westport Free Library into a new town building.

Friends of the Library. The Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge Music and Art Library now being developed in the Berkshire Athenaeum, Pittsfield, is a splendid example of Friends of the Library in action. It is a project of the Music Committee of the Friends of the Berkshire Athenaeum, working in cooperation with the trustees to build a complete and modern music and art library for the people of Pittsfield and Berkshire County. In January of this year it was decided that a Music and Art Library could be housed in a large second-floor room which for many years had been used for storage only. It was suggested that the library be named in honor of Mrs. Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge who founded the South Mountain Quartet and built the South Mountain Temple of Chamber Music. A gift of $1,000 was received from the Pittsfield Junior League. Part of this sum has been used to build a sound-proof booth for record playing and the balance is to be used in the general fund for renovating and furnishing the music room. The League has also agreed to finance a record library and provide volunteer service for its operation. More than $3,300 has been raised, the renovation of the upper room is completed (the main feature being an opening in the upper wall of the main reading room to give light and air to the music room), and the more than 700 members of the Friends of the Berkshire Athenaeum eagerly awaited the official opening of the Music and Art Library on September 30, with a concert by the Pro Arte Chamber Quartet of Brussels. This concert, the first of a series of six, was the gift of Mrs. Coolidge. To the trustees and the librarian an active and intelligent friends group can be a strong right arm in developing a truly public institution.

The Ipswich Friends of the Library sponsored a series of readings for the benefit of the library and celebrated their third "birthday party" with an interesting program. The group numbers 150.

New groups have been formed in Dracut and Newburyport.
